Sing Song Is Popular At Theatre

Stated by some to be one of the best yet, the Sing-song Hour at the Elite on Sunday evening saw an increased crowd of those who are turning out to assist in the work of the local branch of the Red Cross.

Last Sunday little Miss Wear sang sweetly, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" with Miss M. Lane at the piano, and this proved a worthy added number to the programme, and all joined heartily with her last chorus.

Song-leader Huntington also managed to handle one of the new war songs in order that all might learn it, and those present surely made a splendid job of picking up the chorus of "We'll all stick together." Another new number is promised for next week, and with Mrs. W. Clark as pianist it is easy to learn these.

Of the four gentlemen who were the lucky ones drawn for the Quiz contest, Mr. W. Coleman managed to prove his ability to win the War Savings Certificates Stamps, with the consolation stamp going to another contestant after a tie had been decided.

By way of variety, next week's Quiz will be a contest between four prominent townsmen and a team from the Anglican church. It will start as usual at 9 p.m. following church closing, and ALL are invited.

REGULAR MEETING

UNITED CHURCH W.A.

The regular meeting of the United Church W.A. was held at Mrs. Washburn's last week owing to sickness in the Snyder home. Mrs. Hamilton who was in charge of the meeting gave a splendid devotional talk on "Faith."

A treat for the members was an interesting and instructive address from the guest speaker—Mrs. Parks of Irma. Her topic was "The Harm of using Alcohol."

This meeting was well attended and plans were made for the Valentine Tea to be held next Saturday at the home of Mrs. Richards.

At the close of the meeting, a dainty lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. J. Robinson and Mrs. F. Morris.

LOCAL CURLERS WIN AT EDMONTON 'SPIEL

It was truly a case of "bringing home the bacon" when the rink of curlers who entered the Edmonton bonspiel last week returned home on Sunday, for they were the bearers of the fourth prize in the Gas Company's trophy event, and their award consisted of a (very valuable these days) side of bacon speck!

The boys had a pretty strenuous week of curling, but managed to edge out their opponents in eight of the fourteen games they were scheduled to play. (Probably some sore arms and shoulders for a few days, eh?)

Under the guidance of Skip W. Keenan, the following were the representatives of the Wainwright curlers at the big affair and are to be congratulated upon their win: Messrs. Ed Gehring (3); P. Stuart (2); and E. Heffernan.

BOARD FAVORS NO ACT CHANGE

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Wainwright municipal hospital was held on Saturday last when Trustees present were J. Fuller, J. Collette, C. Biesadale, O. Gould and D. Gardiner.

After a thorough discussion by the Board it was moved by Trustee Collette — That Mr. J. T. Alexander be given the milk and cream contract for the hospital, with the exception of milk purchased from Mr. H. McCrystal in the evenings. This contract to take effect March 1st and to terminate Aug. 31st, 1941.—Crrd.

Matron's report for the month of January, 1941:

Patients admitted	59
Patients discharged	51
Classification of patients—

Obstetrical	8
Infants born	8
Total hospital days	539

Moved by Trus. Biesadale—That the Matron's report be accepted.—Crrd.

The proposed amendments to the Municipal Hospitals Act were thoroughly checked over and discussed, and on motion of Trus. Biesadale, it was decided that the department be informed that this Board did not approve of any of the changes being made at the present time.—Carried.

We regret to learn that Mr. Fred Hart was the victim of a heart attack on Monday night.

BIG GATHERING FOR BD. OF TD. DINNER

At the regular monthly dinner meeting of the Wainwright and District Board of Trade held last week, some 27 members were in attendance, and a splendid meeting resulted.

President Huntington was in the chair and the whole of the executive were present.

On a motion by Messrs Knowles and Taylor, the minutes of the previous gathering were adopted, and correspondence read by Secretary Baxter relative to the appointment of a resident magistrate for the Town of Wainwright (which project the Board had brought to a successful conclusion) was ordered filed.

In view of the change of officers for 1941, the necessary banking forms were authorized to be signed and issued.

LISSIMORE HEADS MONDAY'S POLLS

Although there was not a heavy poll of voters in the elections held on Monday last, a fairly steady stream of citizens placed their choices before Returning Officer Kenny with the result that at the close of the day it was found that the following results had been obtained:

FOR COUNCIL

LISSIMORE, Thos. (elected)	91
ROBINSON, Jas. (elected)	74
HEFFERNAN, Errol	75

FOR HOSPITAL BOARD

WASHBURN, Mrs. H. M. (elected)	81
FULLER, Jas.	45

The closeness of the vote for the second Council seat was remarkable all through the counting, as no time was any big "run-away" noticeable.

Only four ballots were spoilt during the whole day, two of these being for Council seats and the other two for the Hospital vote.

CARD OF THANKS

In expressing to all the Hospital Electors my appreciation of the confidence you have reposed in me at the polls on Monday last, I wish to assure you that I will do my utmost to prove worthy of your vote which placed me on your hospital board, and work to the greatest interest of all concerned.

(MRS.) H. M. WASHBURN

CARD OF THANKS

While not successful in the voting on Monday last, I can assure all my supporters of my appreciation of their help, and that I will still continue to have the interests of the hospital at heart to the end that the splendid work it is carrying on may be continued for the benefit of all concerned.

JAMES FULLER

CARD OF THANKS

After so many years spent as one of your representatives on the Town Council, I am pleased to again express my thanks to my supporters for my return to that body as the result of the voting on Monday last and pledge myself to continue to work in the interests of the Town and its citizens.

JAMES ROBINSON

CARD OF THANKS

In expressing my thanks for the support given me at the polls on Monday last in the Town Elections, I wish to assure all that although not successful, I shall continue to use my best endeavors for the betterment of our town and for the advancement of its interests.

ERROL L. HEFFERNAN

THANK YOU!

In returning my thanks for your support at the polls in Monday's voting, I wish to assure all citizens (supporters and otherwise) that I will use my best endeavors for the interest of all persons in our town in order that all may share in the advancement of Wainwright so far as is consistent with good government and sensible expenditures.

C.G.I.T. MEMBERS HOLD BIG RALLY

Miss Muriel Jacobson, National Girls' Work Secretary, met with leaders of the Canadian Girls in Training movement at a supper meeting at the home of Mrs. A. D. Richard on Friday evening. Mrs. H. G. Lester of Viking and Mrs. C. H. Morrison of Edmonton were present, as well as leaders of Wainwright.

At 7:30 a Rally was held in the United church; Miss Irene Dundas was chairman, Misses Fern Leggett, Glenna Brunner and Jacqueline Billing took the worship service which included a solo by Ruth Dalby, accompanied by Shirley McKenzie.

The interesting skit put on by the Senior Group with Boda Nordstrom as narrator and Goldie McNally as canvasser in the financial campaign brought out important reasons for supporting the C.G.I.T. movement.

After a sing-song Miss Dundas introduced Miss Jacobson. After giving interesting facts concerning the origin and correct costume, the speaker linked her remarks on the four points in the C.G.I.T. purpose, viz: Cherish health, Seek Truth, Know God, and serve others.

GOVERNMENT PLANS LEGISLATURE OPENING

With the opening of the first session of the ninth elected legislature of the province opening on Thursday February 20, preparations are being speeded up by the government for its financial and legislative program to be brought before the house.

Two main considerations are before the ministers and their departments. First is the preparation of the estimates for inclusion in the entire provincial budget for the year. Second there is departmental legislation.

Estimates have been under consideration for some time and most departments have completed their first draft.

It is expected that the government will make every effort to have the budget ready to bring into the house as soon as the debate on the Speech from the Throne is ended.

The legislative program is expected to be light, with the government bringing in only such measures as are considered essential.

One bill to be brought in will likely deal with making applicable to the province, loans under the National Housing Act. Already one private bill is in seeking extension of the Calgary and Southwestern Railway. Amending bills to the Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge city charters also are expected.

In view of the war situation, it is expected the budget will be of the "economy" type and that discussion and time will be economically used in order that all may cooperate in speeding the war effort.

Mr. Carman Coleman made a business trip to Edmonton on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carroll and Mrs. Tom Mackinnon attended the wedding of two of Mrs. Carroll's brothers, in Edmonton last week.

A few friends had an enjoyable afternoon last week in celebration of the birth anniversary of Mrs. Pat O'Reilly.

Mr. J. Wyllie, who lives west of town, and who recently purchased the former Swanson property, is planning to move into town very shortly.

War and Religion Mix Well In Picture

True to the tradition of the regiment whose history inspired the picture, "The Fighting 69th" (a famous New York regiment during the first world war) has probably the most authentic details ever filmed of that epic struggle.

With a cast in which only men are included, James Cagney carries the heavy role, with Pat O'Brien as the famous Father Duffy whose preachments for patriotism unfold a stirring drama of adventure and spirit.

War and life in the trenches is almost brutally portrayed and yet the regimental padre goes through it all with a calmness and serenity which so truly is a replica of those of his calling in today's struggle.

The whole picture is one of deep thought and a real typical lesson, and should be seen at the Elite this week end.

A PUBLIC MEETING will be held in the Town Hall, Wainwright, on Thursday Evening, February 13th, 1941, when the intentions of our Citizenry regarding the above will be discussed and plans made accordingly. The Meeting will commence at 8:15 p.m., SHARP.

Year's Value Alberta Oil Is $10,504'669

CALGARY — Alberta oilfields in 1940 produced 8,495,527 barrels of oil and returned to operators $10,504,669, according to a report compiled by F. K. Beach of the Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board and released last week.

The output was almost 900,000 barrels more than the previous record set in 1939 of 7,594,411 barrels. The value was $12,215,000 greater than in 1939, when it was $9,269,580.

Mention of the discovery of a new oilfield at Princess is made in Mr. Beach's report.

Total crude production in Alberta last December was 72,224 barrels, an average of 102 wells per day.

Last year there was 370,104 feet of hole drilled for 102 wells in Alberta, compared with 74,287 feet of drilling at 101 wells in 1939.

A survey of oilfield development 107 actively drilling, 65 wells finished, six suspended and 13 abandoned. In Turner Valley 73 wells were drilled, and in other fields 29. There were no wells suspended or abandoned in Turner Valley.

FOOD FOR HITLER'S GUNS

by ALMA S. WITTLIN

This is total war all right. It is being fought everywhere—in your kitchen. For instance, whether you live in Buenos Aires or Vancouver, or Singapore or Sydney.

As a woman, I feel that any woman anywhere who can look at a well stocked pantry should thank heaven for two things. She should be grateful that the essential articles of the family diet have come her way and, in the second place, she should be glad that they have not gone to Hitler.

For if Hitler had them, they would be used, not for food merely, but in many cases for the manufacture of weapons of destruction.

In Nazi Germany parts of aeroplanes are made of milk, the fuel for some of these aeroplanes is provided by alcohol extracted from potatoes, and butter is made into explosives.

This may sound somewhat fantastic, but the whole development of the German "substitute" industry and the Nazi's exploitation of the most unlikeliest materials for the manufacture of armaments by means of which they hope to gain the mastery of the world is even more fantastic than that.

In countries with a democratic and humane outlook it would be thought shameful to convert foods essential to the health of the population into bombing aeroplanes and explosives. A very different morality, however, obtains in Nazi Germany.

The people who are concerned just now lest the civil population of Europe should be reduced to starvation as the result of the British blockade should bear in mind that Hitler is using only a part of the food supplies available to him to feed the peoples of the subject countries, and is using the remainder as raw material for his armaments industry. This, moreover, has been his practice over a period of several years.

They Go Short to Make War

The shortage of foodstuffs in Germany began to make itself felt as early as 1933, when the National Socialists came into power and began their preparations for a world war. For nearly eight years now the German housewife has been fighting a losing battle against malnutrition on behalf of her family. She has put up with meatless days to go short of fats and make do with skim-milk.

Ever since 1934 uniformed and armed Nazis have gone around inspecting the kitchens of private households in order to ensure that no more than the prescribed amount of food is being prepared.

On one-day Sundays restaurants might only serve one-course meals. The hungry customers were told for their consolation that 30 per cent of what they paid for their scanty meal went to provide food for the poor.

The truth is that the German people have been kept short of food on there were several reasons. The reduction of the meat and fat rations set a limit to expenditures on such luxuries for years now.

Food and increased the capacity of the population to pay taxes which were used to pay for the manufacture of armaments.

By refraining from importing such commodities as tea and coffee the Nazis were able to use their foreign currency for importing raw materials for the manufacture of armaments.

Moreover, the actual foodstuffs which the population was made to do without were utilized as raw material for armaments.

So the various reasons for stinting the people all boiled down to one—preparing for war.

Let us look a little more closely at the technique of this modern witches' cauldron. First let us take that homely article of food, the potato. Power alcohol, which is used for internal combustion engines in place of petrol can be distilled from it. Ten tons of potatoes make about a ton of alcohol, which can be mixed with petrol in the proportion of at least 20:80. Thus the 300,000 tons of potatoes removed from Norway will enable 120,000 tons of petrol to be increased to 360,000.

Or, again, let us take milk. Butter is made out of milk. Butter is made into explosives such as glycerine out of butter. Even skimmed milk is converted into plastics which are of great use in the manufacture of aircraft. Whale oil, which might be used for making margarine, supplies oil for U-boats.

The moment the Nazis occupy a country, strict rationing of foodstuffs is introduced. Even Denmark and Holland, countries in which agriculture flourishes, are suffering at the moment from a shortage of bread, potatoes and fats.

Foodstuffs are all the time exported to Germany from all the occupied countries on a gigantic scale. From Denmark 20 to 30,000 head of cattle are transported to Germany weekly; from Norway 200 tons of fish daily.

In many parts of Denmark and France the entire potato crop has been purchased for Germany and a potato is now for the Danes and the French a rare delicacy costing six times as much as it did in peacetime.

A MOUNTAIN OF METAL

When Pat Sullivan stood on a mountain side in the East Kootenay district of British Columbia, in the summer of 1932, and gazed at the piece of galena ore, he was, without realizing it, standing on a mountain of solid ore. That small out-cropping at Kimberley, B.C., developed into the largest silver-lead mine in the British Empire. Today the Sullivan Mine produces over 98 per cent of Canada's lead output, as well as 80 per cent of the zinc and 36 per cent of the silver, writes W. W. Bridge in the current issue of C-I-L. Oval. Slopes, or rooms, have been excavated that would hold a large modern office building and every 24 hours the mammoth mine pours forth some 7,000 tons of gray, glittering ore.

Since it oxidizes rapidly the ore must be delivered to the concentrator soon after being blasted out, says the article. Therefore over 7,000 tons of ore are blasted and shipped each day and twelve hundred boxes of dynamite are used every month to shatter this tonnage in the underground labyrinth.

The heavy sludge-like concentrates of lead and zinc are shipped to Trail, B.C., where one of the leading non-ferrous smelters in the world is situated. The importance of zinc to Canada's war economy is proved by the recent announcement that this metal is to be put under restrictions almost as severe as those applied to aluminum, concludes the writer.

CHINA'S NEW WATERWORKS

Are Being Built from Britain Beyond the Burma Road

Beyond the Burma Road, in the Szechuan Province, British hydraulic engineers are now going full speed ahead on two of China's vast new electrical undertakings.

Throughout the bombing of the Road, Great Britain was sending continuous supplies of machinery into China whose water supply is one of the most abundant in the world.

Germany is no longer able to compete with Britain in supplying machinery for harnessing this water power, not only because German ships cannot get across the seas but also because the Germans have no nickel, cobalt or chromium to spare, and these metals are essential to machinery which comes into contact with water.

The Germans carried through Elre's gigantic Shannan scheme, but it is significant that Elre's new scheme, the harnessing of the swift-moving waters of the Liffey, has been given to British engineers.

In war time Britain is sending hydraulic machinery not only over to Elre and out to China but to Canada, New Zealand, Tanganyika, Mauritius and Turkey.

NAZI VICTIMS are FORCED to GIVE Canadian citizens are ASKED to LEND

We must show the enemy that we can do more by voluntary effort than he can by compulsion

German people are FORCED to provide the money and material for mechanized warfare by means that put the slave-driving builders of the Egyptian Pyramids to shame. That is the Nazi way. Hitler sneers at Democracy, at the voluntary co-operation of free men, as inefficient, out-dated, doomed. He has sworn to destroy it—everywhere.

Can Democracy, can Canada, meet that challenge—by democratic methods?

It means—MONEY. Money to build the plants, buy the material, pay the workers—to produce TO THE LIMIT OF OUR CAPACITY those munitions of mechanized warfare which we CAN produce—money to purchase elsewhere what we cannot make ourselves.

EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD in Canada is able to share in the great task through SAVING and INVESTMENT in War Saving Certificates.

You do not GIVE—you LEND. Your money comes back to You WITH INTEREST.

The World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strang, Director, Research Department, Sears Grain Company, Ltd.

The Dominion Government will soon be considering its wheat policy for this coming crop. What should the Government do? My own personal opinion is that the Government should purchase the entire wheat crop whatever size it might be.

There will be a sale in Canada and abroad for about 240 million bushels, requiring a crop of 300 million, so the cost to the Government will only be for the excess, if any, over 300 million bushels.

Extra storage space, too, would be required only for the excess over a crop of 300 million bushels.

Should there be an excess it would, of course, add to the size of the present surplus, but my own belief is that that would be a great blessing, for it is far better to have an abundance, even a super-abundance of wheat in wartime, than to run the risk of a scarcity, for no one can foresee the future. We once had six years of drought; we may have it again. No body knows how much wheat will be sunk or destroyed!

And then there is a higher ground. The Allies who of necessity are imposing a blockade on Europe have, I for one believe, a moral responsibility to store up enough wheat to feed the blockaded hungry people as soon as peace is made.

Following factors have tended to raise price: Food situation in unoccupied France and Belgium is becoming more serious. It is officially announced that the supply of feeding stuffs in the U.K. is below expectations. The 1940 wheat crop in Bulgaria is placed at approximately 10 million bushels less than in 1939.

Following factors have tended to lower price: Wheat acreage in India is 300,000 acres greater than last year, and crop prospects are good. Italy's 1940 crop estimated at 20 million bushels above 1939 crop (1939 comparison not available). Manchurian 1940 Soy bean crop estimated at approximately 15 million bushels larger than in 1939.

SHELTERBELTS ESSENTIAL FOR PRODUCTIVE FARM GARDENS

(Experimental Farms News)

The first requisite for a successful fruit and vegetable garden is a good shelterbelt. With belts properly arranged, microclimate accumulates which will supply much needed moisture in the spring as well as protect perennials and small fruits from winter-killing, states R. H. Dunlop, Tree Planting Supervisor, Forest Nursery Station, Indian Head, Sask. Wind velocity is checked, thus reducing evaporation and transpiration during the summer months and physical injury to plants is prevented. Without a shelterbelt, it is almost impossible to carry crops through to the ripening period.

The spring run-off obtained from the accumulated snow drifts may often be more fully utilized if small ridges or dykes can be thrown up temporarily at suitable points to hold the water on the garden proper, instead of letting it run off to some lower ground where it would not be particularly useful. It is not advisable to flood that portion of the garden in this way where vegetables such as asparagus, horse radish, and rhubarb are growing.

The size and arrangement of the garden area in relation to the shelterbelt is important. The long way of the garden should run north and south. Plan so that half the area may be summer-fallowed annually. The area enclosed should not be less than 100 feet wide, and approximately one acre in area. It is customary to plant the vitally exposed north and west sides first; adding to this as convenient until the whole plan is completed.

A three row belt of broadleaf trees, one row of which should be closely planted caragana, will supply sufficient protection for a vegetable and small-fruit garden since summer protection and a means of trapping snow are the main requirements. Tree fruits must be protected from drying winds in both summer and winter and should not be planted closer than 20 feet to the shelterbelts. Your nearest Experimental Farm can provide full information on the growing of fruits and vegetables particularly suited to your district. For information on shelterbelt planting, write to the Dominion Forest Nursery Station, Indian Head, Sask.

FRUITS IN THE DIET

(Science Service News)

Fruits may be classed with vegetables and milk as protective foods. These foods supply very little of the energy requirements of the body but have other valuable properties. They help to keep the human system functioning properly and correct deficiencies of diets largely composed of meat and starchy foods.

Fruits in general are similar in chemical composition to vegetables and both are valuable sources of vitamin C, states J. T. Janson, Division of Chemistry, Science Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture. This vitamin is best known as the anti-scurvy vitamin, but recent research indicates that deficiency of this vitamin is a factor in a number of human ailments. While the citrus fruits, oranges and grapefruit, and tomatoes, are recommended as the most reliable fruits to provide adequate intake of vitamin C, other fruits, including black currants and strawberries, are excellent sources. The vitamin C content of apples varies considerably in different varieties, but this fruit is generally considered a fair source of vitamin C. It has been found that the tissue immediately next to the peel has the highest content, so that there is some advantage in eating apples unpeeled.

Vitamin C is readily destroyed by oxidation or exposure to air. Modern commercial canning practice retains most of the vitamin in canned fruits. Dried fruits generally have little vitamin C potency. Fruits are the chief source of the alkali salts of the organic acids, male and citric. These salts correct acid reactions in the body, caused by the consumption of proteins and starches, and have mild laxative properties.

Recent biochemical research indicates that pectin has valuable colloidal properties which assist the processes of digestion. Fruits in general provide the best source of pectin, although the amount and quality varies considerably in different fruits. Pectin usually reaches its maximum as to quantity and quality at maturity. Apples are notable both for the quality and quantity of pectin and are one of the best sources of the skin and kidneys and help to keep the natural processes of the body functioning properly. They should be served either raw or cooked at least once daily.

NOT "BRANDY BLOSSOM"

The so-called "toper's nose," is definitely due to a skin disease and not as popularly supposed to over-indulgence in strong waters. Dr. Samuel Ayres Jr., of the University of California department of dermatology, speaking recently at the meeting of the Omaha Midwestern Chemical Society made this fact clear.

"Toper's Nose, in middle age," he said, "is not necessarily due to liquor because many persons afflicted with this distressing facial condition have never touched a drop of liquor." This skin disease is called acne rosacea, which frequently causes extreme flushing of the face in middle life. "I have seen," continued Dr. Ayres, "toper's noses on devoted missionaries."

Acne rosacea is a chronic inflammatory disease of the skin of the face especially of the nose and cheeks. It is characterized by a diffuse redness, by dilated blood-vessels, by soft reddish acne-formed papules, and eventually by thickening or hypertrophy of the skin of the part.

When the disease attacks the nose it is likely to produce a distressing deformity. Men and women of the highest social position would give a fortune to be rid of the complaint which, when well-established, is in-

"Ah—come on—just let me lead them down the next block—that's where 'me' girl friend lives!"

possible to cure.

The affection is commoner in men than in women. In men it arises from digestive disorders, is possibly accentuated by the habitual use of alcohol, exposure to wind and weather and occasionally from the use of cold baths. In women it is usually met with in early life and is almost always associated with disorders of the intestinal tract or of the uterus. Dr. Ayres sounded a note of warning about the use of cleansing water," he said, "but who instead, creams in the causation of acne rosacea. "Women who use no soap and water," he said, "but who instead substitute cleansing creams, often suffer from acne rosacea." So our sisters should beware of the inordinate use of cosmetics which may destroy their beauty.

WAINWRIGHT, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 12th, 1941

LENDING FOR FINAL VICTORY

No doubt, Mr. and Mrs. Canada, you have often said to yourself "I'd do anything to ensure a Victorious Peace; but what can I do?"

Well, YOU can do something, and it won't cost you anything to do it. For during the month of February 1941 Canada is merely asking you to save as much as you can and buy War Savings Certificates.

Canada simply MUST have money to carry the war to a successful conclusion, and part of that money must come from OUR savings. In a total war, money is the civilian's weapon. Every dollar loaned to Canada is a dollar invested to secure ultimate and assured VICTORY! And don't forget—the security of your savings is fully guaranteed by the Dominion of Canada.

You CAN'T lose; you will get your money back with compound interest added, therefore, the answer to your first question as above is plainly before each and every citizen—BUY WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES! Here in Wainwright, we pride ourselves that we are good citizens; that we have real community spirit. We like to boast about our town. It's a good town. It has the kind of citizens that make a good town. And when we here in Wainwright set out to do a job we do a GOOD job! Well, right now we have a BIG job to do—the kind of job we can't do with our coats on—WE'VE GOT TO HELP WIN THIS WAR!

We boast about the boys from this district who have enlisted to fight, and it's sure up to us who stay at home that we back these boys to the limit. They need munitions—guns and ammunition and tanks and planes and ships. We've got to help provide these (or at least our share of them).

BRITISH EMPIRE

While the following letter is very personal it is submitted in the belief that it evinces the fine tradition that has made the British Empire an outstanding moral factor in the world for centuries, and that is sustaining it today.

"Clairval,"
Rochester Road,
Norwood, Middlesex,
England
December 15th, 1940

Dear Mr. Rogers:

A friend of mine who is in the R.A.F., told me a countryman of mine had been laid to rest in the cemetery right near my home. I paid several visits to his grave and when I saw no one came to put flowers on it, I asked permission to do so. I have put flowers on every week, and lately have planted wallflowers which will bloom in the spring. It is a lovely place where your son rests, in the valley and surrounded by woods. Recently a cross has been put up with his name on it. On Armistice Day I put poppies on, and also a little wooden cross has been put in with the others' graves. He is the only Canadian; some are Polish air men, English, Belgian and Czech.

For a long time I tried to find out where your son came from. One day I wrote Canada House and asked them if they could give me any information, and told them my reason. Why I wanted it and they sent me your address. So I thought if you knew his grave was being looked after your mind would be at rest.

We have been very lucky here, only a few bombs. I am a Canadian; came from Montreal. Have lived here several years now. We are five generations of Canadians; my husband is English. England is a grand place and we are not going to lose it to any Germans.

I will close, and as long as I am not bombed or have to leave here I will attend to your son's grave, and in the spring I will send you some pictures of it when the flowers are in bloom. England is proud of her Canadian air-men, and so am I.

Sincerely yours,
ADA E. KITCHENER.

HOW THE SPITFIRE

WAS FIRST BORN

Few people remember that a woman gave Britain the world's first and fastest fighting plane, the Spitfire. She was Lady Houston.

After winning the Schneider Cup Trophy (for the world's fastest plane) in 1927 and 1929, Great Britain needed but one more win to own the cup outright, but in 1931 the Government refused to grant the money needed to finance the venture.

For the sake of Britain's air prestige, Lady Houston gave the Government a million dollars. Britain entered the race and won, and as a result of the performance data obtained, Mr. Mitchell, the famous plane designer, was able to design the Spitfire—and all the world knows how big a part it played in repelling the Nazi blitzkrieg on Britain.

Lady Houston won fame with her beauty long before she became known as Britain's "fairy godmother." She was the daughter of a farmer, and on the death of her first husband, Sir Richard Houston, became one of the richest women in the world, inheriting nearly $30,000,000.

Because her husband had died outside England and had made his home in the Channel Islands, it was claimed that his estate was free of death duties made a gift of $10,000,000 to the British Government—equivalent to the duty on the estate.

Becoming alarmed at Britain's defencelessness, Lady Houston in 1933 offered the Government another million dollars as a gesture, "to supplement national defence." Ramsay MacDonald, the pacifist Premier, rejected the offer.

Lady Houston was rather eccentric. Whenever she was on her yacht, every member of the crew had to go below at a certain hour every day, because she was taking her constitutional around the deck.

CROP SECOND LARGEST

IN CANADA'S HISTORY

OTTAWA—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, in its third estimate of the 1940 Canadian wheat crop placed the crop at 531,390,000 bushels, an upward revision of 4,211,000 bushels from the second estimate issued last November.

"The 1940 wheat crop is 30,767,000 bushels above the final estimate of the 1939 crop of 500,623,000 bushels and supercedes that crop as second largest in Canadian wheat history," the bureau said.

The 1928 crop of 566,726,000 bushels stands as the largest crop in Canadian history.

BRITAIN—THE CITADEL

(By Edna Jacques)

It stands alone—a shining citadel
Like a white tower in a storm-swept world.

Around her is the tumult and the night
Against her strength a thousand darts are hurled.

Yet, founded on a rock, her people stand,
Guarding the lonely ramparts of the land.

From every crannied hill and hidden dune
The lightning guns give answer to the sky.

At every lonely peak a soldier waits
At every hilltop a watching eye.

For every heart must be a sword and shield
And every street and road a battle-field.

Strong as the granite of her ancient hills
The people wait the onslaught without fear.

A great united nation, brave and strong
They hold together when the foe is near.

Undaunted by the terror and the pain
They bleed and die and rise to fight again.

For every man in England—every heart
Only a pulse beat of the mighty whole.

And every woman watching on the shore,
Is but a symbol of her country's soul.

And all the skulking treacherous hosts of hell,
Shall never take that shining citadel.

SHOWER IS HELD

AT ASPEN SCHOOL

A miscellaneous shower party was held in the Aspen schoolhouse on Saturday evening, February 1st, in honor of Miss Dorothy Krinbill, a bride-elect of the district.

The first part of the evening was spent in dancing, and this was greatly enjoyed by quite a large gathering.

Later in the affair, the bride-to-be was seated in the center of the hall and many handsome and useful gifts were showered upon her, and for which she expressed her thanks to her many friends.

After supper had been served, all joined hands to sing very heartily "For she's a jolly good fellow," and dancing was resumed until a late hour.

Proves Motorists

Built The Roads

Motor car owners of Alberta contributed the huge sum of approximately $40,000,000 by way of special taxation between January 1st, 1922 and March 31st, 1939. Adding to that sum prospective receipts from gas taxes and motor licenses for the current year, it is believed that the total is sufficient to cover the entire expenditure by the provincial government of the years mentioned. This expenditure included construction of highways, ferries and bridges, together with the expenses of departmental administration and maintenance, also interest on the money expended at five per cent per annum.

The motor car owners of Alberta have thus actually built the highway systems out of their own pockets during the years 1922 to 1940, inclusive.

Mr. A. W. Maguire, president of the Calgary branch of the Alberta Motor Association, gave this information to the public in the course of an interview in which he voiced the opinion that all money received from gasoline taxes and motor licenses should be earmarked for the exclusive purpose of highway building and maintaining.

The DIAL REVIEW

by Walter Davis

With Canada's war effort becoming a real and tangible thing, radio is taking its place with other advertising media to bring the fact to the attention of its listeners—and the listeners are hearing plenty! The War Savings Committee for the Dominion has taken time on the CBC to bring such presentations as "Our Family," every week, Monday through Friday at 5:15 p.m., and the All-Star War Savings Program every Friday night for a full hour, commencing at 8:15.

After listening to these presentations I am sure that we all will have a clearer understanding of just what is expected of us and that we all will be in there to the best of our ability. With all of us with our shoulders to the wheel we will be doing our part to smash the juggernaut that Hitler drives as well as all that Nazism stands for!

Another feature that shouldn't be missed by you or I is the Sunday night presentation of "The Theatre of Freedom." Last Sunday saw the first in the series with "Seems Radio is here to stay." The line-up of plays and players to be heard in the future is certainly very impressive—such names as Charles Laughton and Miss Laughton in "The Flying Yorkshireman"; Helen Menken in Shaw's "St. Joan"; Paul Muni in Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People"; Douglas Fairbanks in John Galsworthy's "Strife" are just a few of the treats that we have in store for us. All plays to be presented are plays that have been written by students of the theatre who love freedom, and for 12 weeks we shall have British and American artists of the stage and screen journeying to Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver to give their services without fee to further a cause in which they all believe—Freedom in speech and thought. This series of "The Theatre of Freedom" will be heard from CICA every Sunday night at 8:15, and if you happened to miss the first presentation, make it a point not to miss any of the others!

For your file of people's peculiarities I want to call your attention to the fact that Ken Griffin gives place of honor in his dining room to a buffet of rawwood and mahogany. Ken, star of "Road of Life," made it himself, using parts of an old piano.

"Road of Life" is heard Monday through Friday at 12:15 p.m.

The latest in comment on the progress of the war situation in the East was the answer to the query as to time, let these programs that you hear remind you that any time is a good time to help this cause in Canada!

Mrs. A. Sibley who was staying for a day or two with friends here has left to make her home at Coalpur where her husband is operator for the C.N.R.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. J. Vetch recently when games and dancing gave a merry time to quite a number present.

EDGERTON

George Sawyer, accompanied by his sister Mrs. A. Caivert, left on Sunday Feb. 2nd for Vancouver and other points on the west coast. They expect to be away two or three weeks. We can't help wondering if they will find any nicer weather out there than we are having. We doubt it!

Peter Milne also departed for Victoria the following day, where he will visit his mother and sister for a week or two.

Mrs. Bullmore is exceptionally busy these days fitting hither and yon. Helping and advising the many mothers who have measles patients to deal with. It is understood that one or two have been quite ill, although fortunately most of the cases are of a very mild type.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Paway spent last week in Edmonton, where F. S. was skipping a rink at the annual bonspiel there.

Two hockey games played here on Thursday evening last ended in defeat for the local boys. Ribstone won both the Midget and Juniors games. Funny enough, the score was the same in both cases—2-2. In all fairness we have to admit that our Midgets were considerably outclassed in size!

We are very pleased to hear that Dr. Ay'sworth is beginning to make progress as he is reported to have gained considerably in weight. It is hoped that he will soon be well enough to return.

In case you have not noticed the posters may draw your attention this week—Valentine Day—the local Red Cross will sponsor a Bingo party and dance immediately after the picture show. No cause could be more worthy of your support so bring along the best girl or your wife; lunch will be served, too!

Miss Morrison, in charge of several members of the C.G.I.T., attended the rally in Wainwright last Friday. It is understood that some top-ranking officials of the organization were on hand, too.

Rev. A. A. Court returned on Saturday after absence of almost two weeks granted him by his widens and vestrymen. Following his attendance at synod and other parochial business he was able to spend a few days visiting.

A mixed hockey team of seniors and juniors from Chauvin versus a similar local mixture played a really good game here on Sunday afternoon. Maybe the big crowd of spectators and their loud encouragement helped. Anyway, the score was in our favor this time; 3-1.

We hope you all heard Winston Churchill's speech on Sunday. It was his most optimistic one to date—or so we thought, and we're hoping Mr. Adolph heard it!

NOTES FROM OUR HIGH SCHOOL

We wonder, who was the self-appointed desk inspector last week? We seem to have heard that some of our hi-school poets have missed some of their masterpieces. Leone could probably help solve these problems! Does Phil like symphony concerts? Why the collection of instrumental recordings?

Whose basement steps were used as a concert platform for a clarinet solo on a certain Sunday night?

Who is going to throw the next house party? We haven't heard that any parents will be absent next week but we sometimes jump to conclusions.

What three students are searching high and low for a pair of ear-phones?

What inspiration caused the writing of the poem "Love is blind; or six lessons from Madame la Zonga" by the grade ten student? ? ?

Great interest is being taken in the municipal elections, with three candidates likely in the running.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. W. Spornits is now home from the Wainwright hospital.

We are sorry to know that Mrs. Jack Mansfield who has been on the sick list for several weeks is not much better.

The sympathy of the district is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Spornits in their bereavement.

The Y.P.C. are holding their meeting on Friday. They are preparing a play to be produced in the near future.

Miss Muriel Hill spent the week-end at her home here.

GILT EDGE

The pie social, card party and dance at Plaxtonville, was indeed a huge success. Prize winners were Miss J. Black, Mrs. E. Monaghan, Mr. Elwood Plaxton and Mr. C. Plaxton.

The roads in our district have been nicely cleared. Both the snowplow and the grader were in use on the job.

ASPEN

The Aspen Red Cross group held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. I. Krimbill on January 19th.

Nine members were present, and the 1940 executive committee was re-elected for the coming year. These were Mrs. Elwood, pres.; Mrs. Withnell, Jr., vice-pres.; Mrs. Harley, secretary; Mrs. W. Krimbill, treasurer.

Mrs. L. Johns was appointed to handle the Red Cross sewing and knitting. Mrs. I. Krimbill and Mrs. G. Bishop will be in charge of the social committees for 1941.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served a delicious lunch which was appreciated by all present.

CHAPTER IX

Elise emerged, cool in pastel chiffons, under a huge hat. Her dark, rather heavy eyes were veiled as they rested on him. They made him vaguely uncomfortable. This was his frequent reaction to Elise these days. He wished ridiculously that he could take a running jump into his car, waving his hat as he went. Instead, he found himself telling her how charming she looked, and how even midsummer became her.

She laid her hand on his arm, and looked up at him reproachfully. "Don't go conventional, darling," she said. Mark decided he would never get used to "darling" as the current output in salutations. "I'm quite sure what your opinion is of women who pursue men to their offices. But how

Mark brought his thoughts back with an effort. "I just remembered—a telephone call. Excuse me a second. I'll be with you."

He was halfway up the walk before she could answer. He felt childishly defrauded as he called his house from the superintendent's office. He had hardly realized how he counted on the hour in the pool with Valerie and Lucy. He was glad when he heard Chiltern's voice. Sometimes if Valerie happened to be passing when the telephone rang she answered, just in case it might be Mark.

"Please tell Miss Tredway and Miss Valerie I've been detained, and to have their swim without me," he said. "And Chiltern—I say—tell them I'm terribly sorry, will you?"

"Yes, sir," said Chiltern. "Will you bring me on the outside. Just as if we hadn't been friends for ages. It isn't fair—when I miss Ellen so anyway."

Mark was horrified, after the fashion of men to see her loose one hand from the still struggling hat and wipe her eyes on a gay bit of chiffon.

"I'm frightfully sorry," he said. "I probably have a headache. He laid his hand over hers on the big hat, and held it closely.

Elise looked up at him from undampened lashes. She even smiled plaintively.

"No, darling," she sighed. "It's just that you don't always think of course, I know you can't go dashing around to parties. Amusing yourself like that. But surely nobody could criticize you for coming to see me! As a matter of fact, it's criticism that made me hunt you up. It's terribly hard to tell you. You are so—so sort of sweet, Mark. But when others are involved—"

Mark asked a surreptitious question of his wrist watch. He was appalled to find only half an hour had passed since Elise had met him. It seemed to him that he had been shut up here with her for weeks.

"I'm afraid I don't understand," he told her. "I suppose it's stupid of me. Do you mean somebody we know is talking about somebody? They generally are, aren't they? Who is it this time, and what are they saying?"

"They're talking about you, darling, of course. Did you imagine you could bring an attractive young woman from nowhere, like a rabbit out of a hat, and put her unchaperoned into your house, and nobody would talk about it?"

Mark drew up by the side of the road and stared at her. "Do you mean—are you by any chance telling me—that Lucy Tredway—"

"Who else? Really, Mark, I admit your right to do as you please. But after all, you're over ten—"

"She declared, 'I never at my worst moments imagined anything like this! A young woman paid a salary to tutor my daughter—'"

Elise again laid her hand on his arm. The arm, quivered, as if he were thinking twice before throwing it off, like the boy she accused him of being.

"Dear heart," she purred, "please don't bark at me. After all, I haven't done anything. After all, this is an adult age."

"I'm darned if what you say sounds like it! Well—go on—you might just as well tell me all there is of it."

"There isn't any more," said Elise. Mark was staring at the horizon. His face was quite cold. She began to be very much afraid. Perhaps the idea was not so clever as it had seemed when she invented it.

"All I mean is," she went on rather sadly, "people seem to think you're not being quite fair to Valerie." Watching him closely, she could see that the shot went home. She continued more confidently, "After all, the child is very young and susceptible to impressions. It doesn't seem quite playing the game to let people gossip—Of course it's only for Valerie. I'm just a little afraid nobody is bothering a great deal about Miss Speedwell—"

Mark turned on her like a man who has suddenly had enough. "The name is Tredway," he said. "There's nothing in the way he said it that made Elise jump."

"Of course it is, darling! You know what an imbecile I am about names! The point is, well, she—she doesn't seem to be so terribly popular with the few people who have met her."

"I wonder if it keeps her awake nights. She's popular with Valerie, and after all, that's what she's at Wide Acres for. The child has been made over new since Lucy came. I hardly know her."

Elise tried not to read anyone's face for popular with her. Lucy, I mean. Darned popular if you want to know."

Elise grew suddenly cold. "But of course, darling, if you're in love with her, darling—"

The words were hardly cold before she knew what a fatal mistake they were. She gathered up her courage and looked at him. His face was far from reassuring.

"Why do you women always imagine a man must be in love?" he asked. "Anyway, could me and—"

Elise tried not to read anyone's face for more into it than just the bare words. But his emphasis on "absolutely" was a bit terrifying. She looked out and saw with astonishment that they had entered the town, and were even now stopping before her apartment house.

Mark got out at once, and opened the door. Her big hat drooping at her side, she faced him with lowered eyes.

"I suppose you'll never forgive me," she sighed. "I suppose you wouldn't come in and share my dinner. I was going to the Weighman's party tonight, but you don't know how I'd love to cut it—for you."

Mark could have laughed. He was riding a wave of freedom. He had seen through Elise. Never again would intangible uneasiness fill him because of her or her great dark eyes, or her subtle perfume.

"I'm afraid not tonight," he said. "You see, I must be getting home to the children."

Elise chose one more from her bag of tricks. "Are you furious with me, darling? Do you hate me?" She even managed what sounded faintly like a sob. "I suppose it's what we must expect when we try to help those we love—I've stayed awake nights trying to decide whether or not I should tell you about this—and now—"

"And now," said Mark pleasantly, "run along in and catch up on your sleep."

"You're—angry—"

"Not a bit. Why on earth should I be?" Tossing off the whole thing as if it were less than nothing.

He was really wondering how much longer he intended standing there talking inanities. He could forgive her, suddenly, for the whole silly business. Even for making him miss his own.

"Good-bye—"

She tried to put heartbreak into it and loneliness. Mark turned as if on a released spring, and held out his hand. "Come over sometime," he grinned. "If you are not afraid of my reputation."

Real tears sprang to her eyes. She turned quickly and walked up to the house. She was afraid he would see the tears. They were of rage, and even a man would know the difference. By the time she turned at the door, Mark and the roadster had vanished.

MOULDS IN FOOD

Mould growth in foods is not usually dangerous. In many cases the formation of mould in food increases its palatability. For example, some kinds of cheese, such as Roquefort, Limburger, Brie and Camembert, are eaten only after extensive mould growth has taken place. The characteristic flavor and smell of these cheeses are due to the substances formed by the particular species of mould.

What are moulds? They are groups of tiny plants so small that the individual structures can be seen only with the aid of a microscope. They develop from spores which are similar to the seeds of the higher plants. The spore is the reproductive element of one of the lower organisms or plants.

The commoner moulds go by the names of Mucor, Penicillium or Aspergillus. The white or light-colored patches seen on the surface of meat in cold storage is due to a mould or fungus known as the sporotrichum carnis.

The spores or seeds of moulds are hard to kill; they can withstand unfavorable conditions for days and when given favorable conditions such as food, a temperature neither too hot nor too cold, moisture, and in some cases oxygen, will live for a long time.

Mould on top of jams, jellies and preserves is unsightly, but not harmful, and the same is true of mould on bread and other foods. Mould growth may be prevented by man-handling foods at medium temperatures and by keeping them free from moisture. Home-made sausage may be kept from moulding by dipping the sausage in melted fat. When cool, the fat forms an impervious coating and resists the growth of mould.

CENSUS TAKER WILL HAVE NEW QUIETES

Census takers who will cover the Dominion next summer will want to know the number of years you attended school (instead of asking, as formerly, whether you can read and write, what type of house you live in, how many rooms are in it, what kind of fuel you use, if you have a bathroom and a refrigerator and how much rent you pay).

If you are a woman—and they hope you will keep your temper and your mind on your arithmetic—they will ask how old you were at the time of your marriage, the number of children and the children living at date of census.

It's Always Summer In Your Kitchen

The greatest comfort and convenience in the use of an electric refrigerator comes with its being placed in the kitchen, a few steps from the range and the food preparation center. Everyone knows that "it's always summer time" in a kitchen, which is heated in the winter to the point of comfort. So, for the greatest convenience and the most practical use, the kitchen is the place and all-year-round is the time to use an electric refrigerator.

Smart people who are really interested in economy, and who have taken the trouble to look into the facts, know that the safety zone for proper food preservation is between 32 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

The Government Weather Bureau records show that there is an average of only 25 days out of the entire year when outside temperatures during the entire day meet these requirements.

What happens if the weather is colder than 32 degrees or warmer than 50 degrees. Naturally, if food-stuffs are exposed to below-freezing temperatures they slowly solidify until they are little more than lumps of ice. This slow freezing process expands the water contained in most food, and breaks down cellular construction. When the food is thawed out, decomposition immediately sets in. Unless the food is eaten within

Even Cupid Must Eat

By BETTY BARCLAY

Here are some recipes that will be appreciated by those who are celebrating St. Valentine's Day by having a family feast or a frolic with friends:

Valentine Punch

1-1 lb. 4 oz. can sour pie cherries
4 whole cloves
1 stick of cinnamon
1/2 cup light brown sugar
4 cups undiluted pineapple juice
Red vegetable coloring
Four cherries and their stems in a saucepan. Add cloves and cinnamon and bring to a boil. Add sugar and simmer for five minutes. Strain mixture through a fine sieve and chill stovetop. Combine with pineapple juice, which has been chilled in cans before opening. Add a few drops of red coloring, or enough to make the mixture a bright cherry color. To serve, pour over ice cubes in glasses. Yield: Eight 8-ounce glasses.

Carotene Salad

Tomato together lightly with 2 forks:
1/2 cup orange pieces
1/2 cup finely cut carrot
1/2 cup raisins
Add dried salad dressing to moisten. Serve on lettuce or shredded cabbage and garnish with 1/2 cup chopped peanuts. Serves 4.

Basta Fazole

(a one-dish meal)
2 cups cooked, dried Lima beans
2 cups tomato sauce or strained tomatoes
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1/2 pound spaghetti
4 tablespoons bacon fat
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Cook the spaghetti in boiling salted water until soft and drain.

Cook the onion in the fat, add tomato, Lima and spaghetti.

Individual Strawberry Shortcakes

Individual strawberry shortcakes are attractive for dessert at a Valentine's day luncheon or for party refreshments. The quick-frozen strawberries come all ready to serve—cleaned, hulled, sliced and sweetened, as full of flavor and vitamins as the day they were picked and quick-frozen.
Spread 1 (16 oz.) box quick-frozen strawberries, just thawed, on the lower halves of 4 hot short-cake biscuits, split and buttered. Top with upper halves and additional berries. Garnish with 1/2 cup cream, whipped. Serves 4.

Valentine Rennet-Custard

1 pkz. vanilla rennet powder
1 pint milk, ordinary or homogenized
1/2 cup raspberry jam
1/2 cup whipped cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon sugar
18 lady fingers
2 tablespoons graham cracker crumbs

Soak out 3/4 cup dessert dishes. Divide the raspberry jam among them placing about 1 1/2 tablespoons in the bottom of each dish. Cut the lady fingers lengthwise, placing four pieces around the sides of each dish. Make vanilla rennet custard according to directions on the package. Pour into dessert dishes on top of the jam. Do not move until firm—about 10 minutes. Chill in refrigerator. Just before serving, top with whipped cream, to which sugar and vanilla have been added. Sprinkle with graham cracker crumbs, or place a soft pink candy heart on top of whipped cream.

A children's variation is to cut marshmallows into very fine pieces and arrange in the outline of a heart on top of each rennet-custard just before serving.

Cupid's Brew

6 cups freshly brewed decaffeinated coffee
4 cups whipping cream, whipped
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Top hot decaffeinated coffee with a spoonful of whipped cream into which the spices have been folded. Sugar may be served with the coffee if desired.
Serve decaffeinated coffee at your Valentine's Day party and your guests won't be worried over sleeping problems later on.

Maggie Valentine Candies

1/2 cup (7 1/2 oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups sifted confectioners' (4X) sugar (about)
Mix sweetened condensed milk and vanilla. Add confectioners' (4X) sugar gradually, mixing until smooth and creamy. Makes 1 1/2 pounds. Roll out on a slightly sugared board about 1/4 inch thick. Cut with a small heart-shaped cookie cutter. Decorate with moist-toes, such as "To My Love", put on with a water color paint brush dipped in melted chocolate.

You'll be sure of a gay St. Valentine's party if you start your guests off with one of the new parlor games that are easy to learn. Circlegammon, an exciting new development of backgammon or Dog Fight, the new airplane manouevring game played on a vertical board are sure to be party successes.

has also been a substantial reduction in food poisoning which resulted only in illness.

Food Poisoning Types

The Consumers' Council of the U.S. Agricultural Adjustment Administration says that two of the most common causes of food poisoning are:

1. Food not properly sterilized or refrigerated.
2. Carelessness in handling household insecticides. The Consumers' Council then goes on to say that—Under the law, products capable of causing food poisoning may be grouped into three general classes. First, those that contain poisonous substances like arsenic or lead. Second, those that harbor disease germs such as oysters or milk, containing the bacteria of typhoid fever. Third, food in which bacteria have developed, as in contaminated custard mixtures.

According to this same survey mass food poisoning such as occur at church suppers, picnics, or fairs are almost always caused by insufficient refrigeration.

Another cause of a great many cases of food poisoning is just plain carelessness in storing perishables where they will not be properly refrigerated. Carelessness in handling foods that are being prepared for the table, and carelessness in the use of disinfectants, insecticides and other household chemicals where food is prepared.

Prevention

Medical men agree that the surest way to halt an epidemic is to stamp the disease out at its source. The same reasoning can be applied to food poisoning. To this end, there are three fundamental rules which, if followed, would contribute greatly to the complete elimination of food poisoning.

The Solution

Electric refrigerators have always been designed to provide temperatures that are well within the Safety Zone limits.
If more people followed the three fundamental rules of prevention of food poisoning, and stored their perishable foods in a modern electric refrigerator, then indeed the root of food poisoning would be destroyed at its source.
Millions of families who are users of electric refrigerators are proving every day that an electric refrigerator is an economic necessity, not a luxury.

3. Never take a chance on any food with an unusual smell or appearance. Be especially careful with custard mixtures. Prepare the custard only as needed. Cook it sufficiently and if it is not to be served right away, keep it under refrigeration.

a very few hours, it spoils and more frequently than not, results in food poisoning. Otherwise, it is thrown away and wasted, which can hardly be considered economical. Quick-frozen foods, now commonly sold, generally state on an outer wrapper that they should be kept frozen until used.

In addition, there are some foods that are actually spoiled by freezing because they lose texture and flavor.

On the other hand, what happens if the weather is warmer than 50 degrees? Scientific tests show that mould, yeasts and bacteria multiply very rapidly in foods that are even a degree or two above this safety zone limit. It may take from 6 to 36 hours before seeing, tasting or smelling will detect any discoloration, taint or odor of spoilage. But the danger is there just the same, threatening the health of the family which consumes the food. The few days during which the outside temperature comes within the Safety Zone are not enough! A modern electric refrigerator provides the proper temperature year in and year out!

It has been stated that a modern electric refrigerator will help pay for itself in food savings alone. This it cannot do unless it is used the year around, the way it is supposed to be used.

If the people who turn off their refrigerators in the winter will balance the small cost of operation against the unwarranted waste of food caused by "hit-or-miss" winter weather systems, they will find that "economy" is a one-sided word. One-sided in favor of year-round electrical refrigeration, by a wide margin! For example:

Let's have a look at some of the "hit-or-miss" systems and see what they have to offer. At the same time, bear in mind the fact that this type of home-made averages 16 trips per day to the place where the food is stored.

The Pantry

Whether defines the pantry as "a room to store bread and other provisions." Pantries are usually unheated and closed off from the rest of the house, but like the cellar, they seldom have safety zone temperatures even during the coldest days. They are designed primarily for the storage of canned fruits and vegetables, preserves, flour, potatoes, sugar, bread, cakes and other pastries. Pantries were never intended to provide refrigeration for perishable foods.

People who shut off their refrigerators during fall and winter, and store perishables in their pantries are risking dollars to save pennies.

Back Porch

Sixteen trips a day form the kitchen to the back porch. Popping in and out from warm to freezing cold, most of the time not bothering to put on a wrap of any kind. This is a very efficient way to catch a fine cold about Thanksgiving time, and keep it until Christmas. Unless, of course, it develops into flu, tonsillitis or pneumonia. In this case, you can add doctors' bills to the operating cost of the back porch refrigeration system.

About the only thing you get free on the back porch is smoke, soot and dirt which somehow manages to get into the food, no matter how carefully it is covered.

Window Box

Sixteen times a day the window goes up and down, allowing frigid blasts of wind into the house. A familiar sight in the window box is the milk bottle with cap perched on top of a column of frozen cream. Any one who has tasted milk that has been frozen can testify how watery and flavorless it is.

Oranges, lemons, and apples and practically all vegetables as well that have been frozen are pliable, dry and unpalatable when thawed out.

If the weather suddenly turns fair and warmer, the milk sours, leftovers spoil, and into the garbage can go dollars that could have been saved by spending from 1 to 3 cents a day for current to operate an electric refrigerator.

The Cellar

There are few cellars, if any, where the temperatures are low enough to come within the Safety Zone requirements. The cellar may seem cold in contrast to the rest of the house, but the simple expedient of placing a thermometer there for a few minutes will prove that it's not cool enough. During winter months when a heating system is used, refrigeration in the cellar is naturally out of the question.

Let's not forget the sixteen daily trips either. Can you imagine modern homemakers preferring to walk up and down an equivalent of sixteen flights of stairs every day to save two cents? Besides the extra drudgery, add in a sizeable bill for spoiled food. Winter and summer, a cellar is usually humid or actually damp. Moulds and bacteria multiply at a terrific rate in a damp atmosphere that is above 50 degrees. The obvious conclusion is that cellars were never designed to act as refrigerators.

Daily Shopping

Some homemakers will argue that they economize by shutting off the refrigerator in winter, and buying just enough each day to meet their needs. This line of reasoning is extremely vulnerable. The U.S. Government Bureau of Home Economics says that quantity buying will save 14 per cent of every food dollar. "In other words, if your grocery budget is $10.00 a week, you can save $1.40 by purchasing a week's supply of perishables, at quantity prices, and storing them in a modern electric refrigerator. This amounts to a saving of $5.00 each month, and does not include the savings in leftovers which amount to 10 per cent more. The operating cost of an efficient 6 cubic foot refrigerator during the winter months is between 20 cents and 75 cents, depending on local current rates. This simply means that you save almost $5.00 a month by keeping the refrigerator running and buying at quantity bargain prices.

Otherwise you not only plod through rain, sleet, snow and slush to get to the market every day, but you pay for the privilege!

When you take these matters into consideration, it becomes quite clear that there is really no economy at all in shutting off the refrigerator during cold months. The pantry, the back porch, the window box, the cellar and daily small quantity marketing all cost you many times more than operating your electric refrigerator.

It is difficult to believe that any women would prefer the inconveniences and extravagances of these antiquated methods of keeping food if she knew what an electric refrigerator would do for her. Even more important, however, is the fact that she is endangering the health of her loved ones by giving them improperly refrigerated foods.

Remember! "An efficient Electric Refrigerator makes it safe to be hungry!"

What happens to perishable food if it is not kept within the Safety Zone temperatures is well known. Now, let's see what happens if the food is eaten and how electrical refrigeration helped to lower the death rate caused by food poisoning.

Refrigeration vs. Death

In 1927 there were only about 350,000 domestic refrigerators in use. In 1939, there were nearly 14,000,000 domestic refrigerators in use. At the same time there was a reduction of 83.33 per cent in deaths due to food poisoning.

These death rates were computed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and the refrigerators in use by the publication Electrical Merchandising. It is interesting to note that the death decrease seems to bear a definite relation to the growth of electrical refrigerators in use.

It is reasonable to assume that modern electric refrigeration has contributed largely to this reduction of food poisoning deaths. In addition, while no figures are available, there
